

A need for integrative studies

- Prior work has shown that there is a need to integrate Temperament, Abilities and Interests.
- But how to do it?
- To integrate the areas requires large sample sizes, ease of data collection, and a diverse subject population.
- Some do this through meta analysis, some use broad based national samples.
- Is it possible for single labs to do integrative studies?

